

Emily Kidd, MD, FACEP, FAEMS

Dr. Emily Kidd attended Texas A&M University (BS), The University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston (MD), The Brody School of Medicine at East Carolina University (residency), and The University of Texas Health Science Center in Houston/Houston Fire Department (fellowship). She is board certified in Emergency Medicine and EMS, and has been practicing emergency medicine for over 21 years and pre-hospital medicine for over 15 years, serving as an Assistant Medical Director for the Houston Fire Department, an Assistant Medical Director and Interim Medical Director for the San Antonio Fire Department, and currently as the Texas Medical Director for Acadian Ambulance Service. Dr. Kidd is also very actively involved in disaster and emergency management at the local, state, and national levels. She served on FEMA's National Advisory Council for 6 years, is on the Governor's EMS and Trauma Advisory Council Disaster Committee, and serves as the State Medical Director for the Texas Emergency Medical Task Force.