

Bianca Daswani, MHA, MBA

Bianca Daswani currently serves as the inaugural Administrative Fellow at The Harris Center for Mental Health and IDD, working closely with executive leadership to transform lives across 88 sites in Harris County. Her passion for improving care delivery and utilizing data and evidence-based approaches to enhance operational efficiencies has been an asset to The Harris Center.

Before gaining experience at the largest behavioral and developmental disability care center in Texas, Daswani worked at various health systems in Houston such as Houston Methodist Hospital and Legacy Community Health. Daswani holds a Bachelor of Science in Nutritional Sciences from the University of Houston, and a dual Master of Healthcare Administration and Master of Business Administration in Business Analytics from Texas Woman's University.

Highly motivated to transform healthcare delivery positively, Bianca Daswani has a strong interest in behavioral health, diversity, equity, and inclusion. She believes that educating oneself on how to lead is as equally important as educating others on how to lead. To this end, she feels passionately about her position in ACHE-SETC as the Secretary of the Mentorship Committee, where she creates more efficient methods for further mentorship engagement. In the future, Daswani looks forward to impacting the quality of patient care and efficiency in health system operations through leadership and management.
