About the Speaker

George Gaddie is the Vice President and Chief Information Officer for UTMB Health. He has over 20 years of experience in health care technology and was named CIO in 2021. George is a collaborative leader and in addition to his regular duties at UTMB, he currently chairs the Epic/UT System Leadership Committee that strategically sources and delivers Epic and related products system-wide. He is a Certified Healthcare Chief Information Officer (CHCIO) and Certified Digital Health Executive (CDH-E) from the College of Healthcare Information Management Executives (CHIME) and a Fellow of the Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC) Group on Information Resources Leadership Institute.

Outside of work George enjoys spending time on road trips to "nowhere" with his family, rustling and playing with his herd of 5 chihuahuas, riding bikes with his wife Elizabeth, watching classic movies, and relaxing with family and friends.
